

A Review of Fuzzy Logic Applications in Electronic Surveys

Mumtaz Ahmed¹, Shabbar Naqvi², Irfan Ali³, Ali Raza⁴

^{1, 2, 4}Department of Computer Systems Engineering & Sciences, Balochistan UET, Khuzdar, Pakistan

³Department of Basic Sciences, Balochistan UET, Khuzdar, Pakistan

Corresponding Email: mumtazmengal@buetk.edu.pk

Abstract— Fuzzy logic has been applied to various problems successfully where complicated and uncertain data is involved. Electronic surveys are commonly used now a days for attitude measurement. This paper provides a detailed literature review of the application of fuzzy logic used in Electronic Surveys. It has been shown that use of fuzzy logic has proved very successful in this application area.

Keywords— Fuzzy logic, survey, Likert scale, Emotions